Why Tile?

A red heat source device, possibly a solar simulator, is mounted on a wooden frame. It is shining a bright light onto a concrete tile. The tile is part of a larger assembly, likely a roof or attic structure, used for testing heat absorption. A circular callout box in the upper right corner displays the temperature measurement.

Concrete Tile

NATURAL PROTECTION

Attic temperatures measured using identical heat sources simulating the sun's radiation comparing standard Boral concrete roof tile to a common asphalt shingle. The result is less heat in the attic and lower energy bills.

A close-up photograph of a waterfall cascading over a concrete structure. The water is a vibrant blue-green color, and the surrounding concrete is a light tan. The text "Material Matters." is overlaid in white, sans-serif font, centered on the left side of the image.

Material Matters.

BEAUTY MATTERS

Our concrete tiles have texture and substance, creating a true multidimensional look for your roof. Their natural colorways harmonize easily with other exterior building elements.

DURABILITY MATTERS

Boral engineered tile is specifically designed for new build and reroof, helping provide Floridians protection from the elements.

VALUE MATTERS

Boral stands behind the quality of our roof tile with a Fully Transferable, Non-Prorated Limited Lifetime Warranty.

SUSTAINABILITY MATTERS

Boral roof tile is locally made and sourced in Florida since 1958.

Color Matters.

As the market leader, we strive to enhance the curb appeal of your home. We continuously develop new colors to harmonize with the shifting architectural trends in Florida. We take pride in the color quality and blending we provide.

Code Approval: Complies with all building codes including but not limited to ICC ESR-1647. Some approvals are regional and only apply to locally produced products; please contact Boral Roofing before transporting product across state lines. Specifically, products used in the Miami Dade County region of Florida require special testing and recognition. All tiles are Class A fire rated.

Disclaimer: The printed colors shown in this brochure may vary from actual available tile colors. Before making a final selection, be sure to review actual tile samples and roof installations. Please contact your local sales office for further assistance. Inadvertent errors in this publication are subject to change without notice. No performance guarantee is offered or implied beyond that expressly indicated.

Efflorescence is a temporary surface condition which is common to all concrete products. The process is caused by the chemical nature of cement. This reaction can appear as an overall chalky white bloom (a softening of color) or in more concentrated patches. It is difficult to predict how long the effects of efflorescence will last. It depends on the type and amount of deposit as well as local weather conditions. The action of carbon dioxide and rainwater will gradually remove the deposit, in most cases, leaving the original color of the roof intact without further efflorescence occurring. It is superficial and in no way affects the quality or functional properties of the tile.

Installation: According to the Tile Roofing Institute loading guidelines, "To achieve a pleasant, random blend of color for your job, care should be taken upon loading to mix the tiles." (Source: 2015 Clay and Concrete Roof Tile Installation Manual). Please consult the Tile Roofing Institute (TRI) Installation guides for application recommendations.
